PAST RESEARCH LEADERSHIP & FUNDING

Before pursuing my PhD, I worked as a health economist at The MITRE Corporation, a not-for-profit entity that operates several Federally Funded Research and Development Centers, including the CMS Alliance to Modernize Healthcare. My role was dual-faceted: I engaged directly with customers as a consultant and led numerous internal research projects. These projects necessitated presenting proposals to a review committee. I was responsible for managing research budgets totaling $110,000 and $77,000.

THE MITRE CORPORATION

- Principal Investigator, $110,000, MITRE Innovation Program, August 2017 – August 2018
- Principal Investigator, $77,000, Early Career Research Program, October 2016 – September 2017

PRE-PhD RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

THE MITRE CORPORATION

April 2015 – August 2018

Senior Health Economist, Health Policy Department, Health Technical Center

Baltimore, MD

Principal Investigator & Project Lead, MITRE Innovation Program, (August 2017–August 2018)

- Managed a research budget of over $110,000 from MITRE's research & development portfolio.
- Oversaw the following research efforts:

(1) The projected impact of Medicaid work requirements: Economic and health outcomes

- Projected the economic impact of the work requirement waivers from an individual and public finance perspective.

(2) Integration of social determinants of health into Synthea synthetic patient simulator and SyntheticUSA

- Developed regression models that provide conditional probability inputs to be integrated into Synthea.

(3) Medicaid expansion and trends in financial security for adults

- Investigated the effects of Affordable Care Act state Medicaid expansions on patient social health outcomes and financial security.

Principal Investigator & Project Lead, MITRE Early Career Research Program, (October 2016–September 2017)

- Investigated the difference in the prevalence of health-related social needs across different insurance types.
- Led the research work of two coauthors, successfully managing a research budget of $77,000.

FULBRIGHT PROGRAM, US DEPARTMENT OF STATE

September 2011 – August 2012

Fulbright Scholar, Research Fellow

Seoul, Republic of Korea

Junior Researcher, Fulbright Program, (Sep 2011 – Aug 2012)

- Investigated Korea's high suicide rate, National Health Insurance Service, and attitudes toward the elderly.

Research Associate, Health Insurance Models Activation and Leveling-up (HIMAL) Project, (Feb 2012 – Jul 2012)

- Evaluated different models of community-based health insurance used by each of Nepal's five major regions.

OTHER PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE
